

Arts Presenters of Northern New England

Arts Presenters of Northern New England (APNNE), formerly known as the Green Mountain Consortium for the Performing Arts, was established in 1978 to facilitate resource sharing, cooperation, and block booking among rural non-profit performing arts organizations in Vermont, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts.

APNNE offers member organizations:

- monthly meetings with opportunities to network with other presenters and share best practices for the field
- professional development programs
- renowned speakers and special presentations on current topics in the field
- access to grant opportunities
- connections to other arts organizations, consortia, and regional and national conferences

APNNE welcomes as members non-profit performing arts organizations from throughout Vermont, New Hampshire, and rural Massachusetts. Cultural organizations that enjoy the benefits of APNNE membership include:

- Performing Arts Organizations
- State and Regional Arts Councils
- Cultural Series
- Parks and Recreation Departments
- Public and Private Universities, Colleges, and Schools
- State Tourism Offices

Member organizations bring a wealth of resources to APNNE. You can strengthen your own organization and collaborate with other performing arts presenters and allied organizations in rural northern New England by:

- becoming a member of APNNE
- participating in APNNE meetings
- sharing information about topics vital to the industry.
